Curvature of the Spine.

DR. HAMILTON,
No. 47, North Gay street, Baltimore,
HAVING turned much of his attention during a long practice to the diseases of the Spine, begs leave to tender his services for the cure or relief of that afflicting malady. The approach of this disease is easily detected by an attentive observer. It makes its appearance generally in children between the second and sixth year; a protuberance of one or more of the small bones composing the spine becomes evident, loss of appetite, irregularity of the bowels, and emaciation soon follow, together with much disinclination to walk—and unless immediate aid is obtained, death or incurable decripitude through life are the certain consequences.

Doctor Hamilton has the satisfaction of knowing that his treatment of this disease, and application of the necessary apparatus, which is simplified at the same time, that it is materially improved, have received the unqualified approbation of many of the most eminent of his medical brethren in Baltimore. Spring corsets, upon a new principle, can be applied for the use of young ladies evincing a tendency to this disease, which, while they afford the most effectual support for either side, may be worn without observation. Satisfactory references might be given to parents whose children have profited by this improved mode of treatment, did not delicacy forbid the publication! they may be easily obtained if desired, by a private interview.

Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronised by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Billious Pills," and on the end of the Label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water:

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment:

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

March 15 A P. GOVER.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.
Fairfax Court-House. Va.

SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1819.

TAVERN REGULATIONS.

1. All profane language and obscene conversation are expressly forbidden in this house.

2. Drunkenness, and all kinds of intemperance, are prohibited by the divine law, and by every good innkeeper.

3. No gambling, nor any kind of improper amusements, will be allowed on any occasion. The best amusement, to every refined mind, will be found in reading useful books, and conversing upon interesting subjects.

4. Remember to keep holy the Sabbath day, and duly observe all the precepts, and commands of the Supreme Law-Giver.

A word to Travellers and Lodgers.

The above regulations were not designed to abridge your liberty, nor interfere with your real enjoyment. But on the contrary, to abstain from what God has forbidden, and practice what he has enjoined, is essentially requisite to our present peace and future happiness.

Profaneness, intemperance, and vice of different kinds, which are presented to view on every side, must remind every good man of the importance of being continually on his guard against such dangerous enemies to his present peace and future happiness.

There is no person of decent manners who will designedly and unnecessarily injure the feelings of another. And yet, by the use of improper language, how often do those who would be thought gentlemen, in the most sensible manner wound the feelings of their inmates and fellow travellers. Profaneness places the gentleman upon a level with the most degraded and worthless part of community—and all who will indulge themselves in the use of profane language, declare, that they are united with the prince of darkness, and are the children of him who is going about seeking whom he may devour. The example of such persons is more destructive than the pestilence. Thousands of children, and some of the fair sex, have already caught this loathsome disease.

How many, who might be blessings to the world, are, in consequence of an improper use of ardent spirits, become nuisances to society? Intemperance not only destroys a man's character and renders him a useles and loathsome object, but it needlessly consumes that property which was designed for noble and important purposes.

According to the returns made by the marshals in the year 1810, it appears that in one year more than thirty-three millions of gallons of rum, brandy and whiskey, were consumed in the United States. And since that time the quantity is probably much increased. Should this be reckoned at one dollar only per gallon, which is far short of what it costs the consumer, if he purchase, as is common, at the tavern or tippling house, what an enormous sum of money would be required to satisfy this depraved thirst? In one year only a sufficient property might be saved, merely in ardent spirits, to erect suitable places of worship and school houses, as well as make good roads throughout the Union. May all think of this every time they lift the intoxicating bowl to their lips.

And let us remember, my fellow travellers that the property thus wasted is the Lord's—to whom we must one day give an account of ourselves, and the manner in which we have improved the talents entrusted to our care.

Shall we not rather employ all that can be saved from the necessary demands of nature in doing good? By prudence and economy, money sufficient might be laid up to feed, clothe and educate all the poor children in our country. Societies for bettering the condition of the poor, and promoting christian knowledge, have been established in this and other countries, and have been found of great utility It is hoped that every individual will soon become connected with some one of these societies or associations for doing good.* If it be only one cent that can be spared, this might purchase a tract which perhaps may be the means of "saving a soul from death, and hiding a multitude of sins."

*Many societies and associations for doing good have been recently formed in Europe and America But perhaps no one has been instrumental of so much good, as the Sunday School Society. That all may see what valuable effects have been produced by Sunday Schools, they are requested to read the Sunday School repository, printed in New-York, or the Guardian, printed in New-Haven, (Conn.)—Each family might save rags sufficient to pay for one of those excellent publications.

Let all search the Holy Scriptures with candor and attention, that each may know what God has given to man for the rule of his obedience. And one rule, in a particular manner, is recommended to every person, as being the foundation of all human laws, which, if properly obeyed would put an end to broils and discord throughout the world. May each one sincerely ask God to write it upon his heart. This excellent rule you will find recorded in Mathew vii. 12, "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them."

N. B. the above regulations may be had gratis at the Bookstores of Mr. Kennedy, and Messrs. J. & A. Douglass on conditions they are pasted up in the bar room of some tavern.

To all Gentlemen holding Slaves in Alexandria, and its vicinity:

GENTLEMEN—Permit a traveller, passing through your country, to make a few friendly remarks upon a subject in which we all ought to feel deeply interested. What Christian must not be struck with horror to see crouds of children and black servants pursuing their pleasures and worldly business upon the Sabbath! This was witnessed the last Lord's day by him who now addresses you. And it is with extreme pain, that I heard the christians of Alexandria are suffering under this great calamity merely to accommodate some black servants, whose masters are so unfeeling as to deny them the privilege of marketting their produce on any other day of the week. Is it possible that such masters have read that command of the Supreme Law-giver, which says, "Thou shalt not do any work; thou nor thy son nor thy daughter, nor thy man servant nor thy maid servant, nor the cattle nor the stranger, within thy gates." If they have read it and sincerely besought the Lord to write this Law upon their hearts, it is certain that they must feel much pain every Sabbath day in seeing their servants so wantonly break it.

Many are complaining of the hardness of the times. But, none ought to expect the divine blessing so long as they live in open violation of the laws of Heaven. And are not all magistrates and officers of the peace partaking of the sins of others if they do not exert themselves to suppress such irregularities? The police of every city would feel obligated to remove any nuisance, which endangered the health or abridged the happiness of the inhabitants. Yet those sinful practices which endanger the health and threatens the life of the soul are not regarded by many of our magistrates and peace officers.

If we wish to witness prosperity and true happiness we must as individuals and as a community, obey the law of that God, who has said "Bring ye all your tithes into the store house, and prove me now herewith saith the Lord of Hosts if I will not pour you out such a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it."—Those who honor me, saith God, I will honor, but those who despise me shall be lightly esteemed.

That all magistrates and officers of the peace may faithfully discharge their duty and have the satisfaction of seeing their labors crowned with abundant success, is the prayer of their humble servant,

A. TRAVELLER.

The editor of the Baltimore Morning Chronicle writes like an American. His ideas on the following subject will be read with real pleasure. [N. Y, Gaz.

NAVY AND ARMY.

Our government have in their management of the naval and military department, given a pledge to their country that the celebrity of our gallant officers shall not be tarnished in their hands. While frigates and seventy fours are on the stocks preparing, and at no distant day to join the squadron, those ships of war already built, are scouring the Atlantic ocean in almost every direction. The American constellation sparkles in every firmament, and nations have become familiar to the spectacle, to whom but a short time ago, the name of an American was almost unknown. On the return of one frigate, another, commanded by new officers, proceeds to sea; so that both commanders and men are daily and hourly learning more experience and more discipline. This regulation forms a sort of nursery for gallant spirits, and prepares them to execute with skill and promptitude the orders of their government, whenever it shall become necessary to have recourse to arms. The fine order in which our ships have been preserved during the course of these long voyages, have extorted the most unqualified testimonials of applause from our English rivals. On the entry of an American ship of war into a foreign port, the usual testimonials of respect, that is, gun for gun, is always punctiliously demanded; any surrender of this species of naval etiquette, implies an acknowledged national superiority on the part of the officer consenting to such a sacrifice. Our gallant commanders even when passing the tremendous fortress of Gibraltar, are so delicate on this point, that they demand as a preliminary, the return of their salute with an equal number of guns. A spirit of competition is thus excited amongst these men, and while foreign nations behold the American standard so proudly insisting on its rights and prerogatives, we are at every hour better prepared for war, and our character is acquiring firmness and consistency. A victory is oftentimes not so important to a country as this jealous sense of etiquette in the reception and return of these national salutations. However glorious a triumph may be, a disgraceful treaty expunges all its brilliance; but this equality of which we have been speaking; this determination never to consent to the sacrifice of honor, preserves in all its integrity in time of peace, that reputation which was acquired in battle. It familiarizes the mind to lofty contemplation, and enables the commander of a national frigate, to meet the governor of the fortress of Gibraltar on equal terms. A principle so zealously contended for in peace, will not lightly be abandoned in war.

Nor can the remark with justice be made that our military officers enjoy the repose of the Sybarite, who complained that he could not rest because the rose leaves lay doubled under him. Immense military roads are now forming on our northern frontier; fortifications erecting on the most eligible and commanding sites; skilful engineers are employed to mark out the places most convenient for the erection of batteries: exploring parties, under the authority and sanction of the government, are sent out to trace the windings of our mighty rivers to their sources, to guard and protect those who embark in such expeditions for scientific researches; to hold in awe and check the prowling savages, who from their native woods behold with agitated eyes the advances of our greatness; others traverse our immense range of sea coast to build fortifications for the protection of the most vulnerable points. This is assigned to the duty of the military commander, and in the discharge of this duty, they hold a competition with the naval. If these men preserve a proper subordination to the legislative authority—if they remember the station they occupy in the body politic—that they are not the head to dictate, but the arm to execute, the most zealous friend of free government would see in all this nothing to alarm. It is only when congress themselves seem disposed to relinquish their constitutional rights, and when emboldened by such imbecility, the military are enabled to attempt to terrify and to overawe that legislature, that the advocate of real liberty trembles. What no power on earth can deprive us of, we are always competent to abandon ourselves. Our legislators should remember, that the great energies residing either in physical or in moral nature, to be productive of benefits, must be under the superintendence of a controlling power—a steam boat has its safety valve. But the direct, the infallible road to ruin is, to permit such formidable engines to have their own play. The most rancorous enemy of our infant republic, would not wish to discover a more certain symptom of our national dissolution than any timidity expressed by the guardians of their country's welfare with regard to the investigation of such important points as the subordination of the naval or military to the civil departments. Generals or commodores, while acting in that capacity, were never intended to be legislators. Accustomed to command in their respective spheres, and to absolute obedience, they can bear no contradiction; their word is paramount to law—let them exercise this power where it can be exercised—let them be subordinate to the legislative body—and in this, and in this alone, will their real, solid, permanent glory consist. Their reputation can only be built on the prosperity of that country which they decorate and defend; they are indissolubly united—there are but two alternatives, the hero and the tyrant! Whenever the time shall arrive that Congress, in a contest either with the military or naval powers of this country, dares not assert its full constitutional dignity and prerogative, to adopt a figure of speech already used, we will say, that our political steam frigate has lost her safety valve.

FRENCH POLITICS.

The Baltimore Morning Chronicle of Friday, the 30th ult. contains the following sensible remarks on this subject:

The late creation of new Peers by the French Monarch, appears to have excited very strong sensations amongst the other members of that body. The debates on this subject were loud and boisterous, and frequently interrupted by cries of order from the president. A discussion arose very much resembling what has passed on the floor of Congress when a member has endeavored to introduce a proposition peculiarly hostile to the sentiments of the majority. It has been more than once decided, that the speaker when he rises, shall announce the object of his motion; which, if unacceptable to the majority, is voted down by the dead eloquence of numbers. The ground taken by those favorable to the recent creation of the peerage was, that their oppohents had no constitutional right to call in question the exercise of the royal prerogative: that is, if Louis had thought proper to grant letters of nobility to men whose opinions were decidedly opposed to the Bourbon dynasty—who would exercise all the power with which they were invested, for the re-establishment of the Bonaparte family, he possessed an undoubted constitutional right to throw away his royal prerogative. In fact, the majority might very safely maintain this ground, and they might scite a precedent that would establish it beyond all controversy. It is well known that Louis, on his first assumption to the sceptre, took to his confidence the friends of Bonaparte. He appointed them to the most important offices in his gift—they ruled his armies, and they swayed his cabinet: the consequence was, that scarcely had Bonaparte departed from Elba, before a turnpike road for his return, was made from that island, to the throne of France. It was true that this weak and timid policy caused an immense effusion of human blood, and compelled the allies to take possession of the capital of France, a second time. If Louis refuses to grow wiser by his own errors; if he obstinately declines to learn wisdom from experience; if he is determined to put so much to risk again, it is said very gravely, that he has a constitutional right so to exercise his royal prerogative. It is very easy, it must be confessed, at such seasons to declare that there is no danger, and the French monarch thought that there was no danger before. The thunderbolt that flashes hostility on the horizon, is represented as a very harmless thing—nay, it is even called the lambent and cheerful light of loyalty, beautiful and peculiarly soothing to the eye of the reigning monarch.

What evidence is there, as some would intimate, that this revolutionary spirit is effectually repressed? Do gentlemen argue in this manner because it has not as yet broken out into open acts of violence? This would defeat the very object, and disconcert all the plans of the revolutionary party. No; it is now their policy to play a deeper—a more subtle game. They beset the throne of Louis—they insinuate themselves into his confidence and his cabinet—they feel their way with caution and circumspection as they approach the throne—they block up all the avenues to the royal ear—they flatter an amiable but credulous monarch, and they deceive him by treacherous carresses to his own undoing. Let the question be stated in this way, and submitted to the decision of any practical politician. Is it credible in the nature of things that those very men, or others of the same kidney, who while the five great potentates of Europe, surrounded by their immense armies, were assembled on the plains of conquered France and had placed Louis on the throne, can it be believed that these men who, before these armies or their sovereigns had separated, would dare to turn from their monarch and aid the return of the exile from Elba to sceptre; can it be believed that these very men when all the allied armies are withdrawn from the French frontiers, when nothing but intrigue is wanting to accomplish their plan of establishing the outlawed dynasty, can suddenly, from the deadliest enemies, become the sincerest friends of the reigning monarch? Can it be believed that those who would hazard so much when there was such imminent danger, would hazard so little when there is comparatively none! The thing is to us utterly incredible. No these men have learnt, what Louis has not learnt, wisdom from experience. But without intending to prophecy, we will venture this opinion, that if the crown falls by the imbecile policy of Louis, from the head of a Bourbon now, it never will be reinstated. The allies have once interfered, and by an immense sacrifice of blood and treasure rescued Louis from his own policy; he suffered the sceptre to fall from his hands, and it was replaced in his hands again by his confederates. This is the last exertion that will be made for the Bourbon dynasty. If the tragedy of Waterloo is to be acted over again, the day of mercy for the Bourbons will be over; France will be proclaimed a conquered kingdom and will be cut up and divided amongst the allied powers. The present is an awful moment for France—peculiarly awful—awful beyond the expectation of her friends or her enemies.

Extract of a letter, giving an account of the murder of Mr. THOMAS M'CALL, of Indiana, formerly of this place, by three Delaware Indians.

"Vincennes, March 24, 1819.

"I have the painful and melancholy task of informing you of the death of Thomas M'Call, on Sunday the twenty-first, about one o'clock, P. M. of a stab he received from three Delaware Indians, in his own house, about 9 o'clock at night on the 19th inst.

"The circumstances attending this melancholy affair, given by himself, and a Mr. Lacy who lived with him, are as follows:—

"After dark three Delaware Indians on their way from the settlement to their camps called at his house, apparently somewhat intoxicated; after entering the house, two of them drew their knives and appeared inclined to do mischief. They became somewhat pacified and asked for something to eat; it was given to them, and their horse fed; they then requested to stay all night which was refused, their camps being but two miles off:—they went away, and after some time returned and asked for fire; it was given to them; they kindled it against the side of his house and went off; the fire was watered out, and Mr. M'Call went to bed. After some time one of the Indians called at the door and requested to stay all night, stating that his other two companions had gone off; he was refused; immediately the three attempted to break the door. Mr. M'Call sprang from his bed and called to his assistance Mr. Lacey, finding they would succeed in forcing the door, it being weak, and having but one hinge. Lacey being alarmed, was able to render but little assistance. Mr. M'Call looked for his gun which not being able to get, he sprang to his axe, at which time he was attacked by two or three; he knocked one down and gave another a severe blow—during the scuffle, Lacey had gone out with his wife and child. Mr. M'Call finding himself engaged with the three extricated himself and got out of the house, though mortally wounded. He immediately ran two miles to the nearest neighbor's house, with no other cloathing than his shirt and drawers, without hat or shoes, having to run through several frozen ponds and swamps. When he arrived he was literally covered with blood, and in two days died. He was well acquainted with the Indians, and knew of no offence he had ever given them, or any other person. Having a large stock running in the forest, he had at all times, both from interest and choice, treated them with friendship and hospitality.

"A doctor was sent for, but his wound was beyond the reach of any surgical operation—the knife entered between the second and third ribs, cut the stomach about two inches, and passed round towards his back."

Extract of a letter, dated Santiago, 27th of January, 1819.

"The circumstances attending the return of the Ontario to Valparaiso, and her immediate departure, will make some noise in America, and will explain why we had not the pleasure of seeing captain Biddle, or any of the officers here. Last night we received here the agreeable news that col. Freyer had defeated the old Spanish forces under Sanchez, with the loss of 500 killed, wounded and taken prisonsers; five pieces of cannon; nearly all the baggage, &c. and was close at the heels of the remainder, (700 men) and hoped to give a good account of them before they could cross the river Bio-Bio, which separates Chili from Valdivia, thus leaving the provinces of Chili, Coquimbo and Conception without an enemy: and what adds greatly to the hopes of the utter annihilation of the Spanish power is, that the Indians (the famous Araucanians) have taken part with the Patriots in the last action. The Chili squadron, consisting of the St. Martin of 60 guns, the Lautro of 53, the O'Higgins of 50, (late Spanish frigate Maria Isabella) the corvette Chacabucco of 24, the Galvarino of 18, and the Araucano of 18, all commanded by lord Cochran and experienced officers, are now on a cruize, and are expected to return within a month, to receive the troops for Lima; little doubt can be entertained as to the result of the expedition, as the last accounts are most flattering, both with regard to the spirit of the Patriots there, and also of the fears of the old Spaniards."

New-York, May 4.

The British packet Queensbury, sailed from Falmouth on the 14th of March, and has experienced severe weather. The captain of the packet, Richard Dunston, esq. died at sea of consumption on the 20th April, and was buried at Halifax. The command devolved on the master, Mr. Charles Teller.

Philadelphia, May 5.

Captain Wing of the Caledonia, sailed from Laguira on the 9th ult. in company with schooner John Brown, of Newburyport, for Turks-Island, after an embargo of three weeks, in consequence of Brion's squadron being off that port.

Extract of a letter, dated La Guira, April 8

"On the 19th ult. eight privateers under command of Brion hove in sight. Our fleet not being of sufficient strength to meet them had to wait for a reinforcement, which arrived on the 6th inst. from Porto Cavello they chased the enemy as far off as Cumana. Foreign vessels come in and go out without molestation—several of them have been boarded. All is tranquil in the interior.—Prices—coffee 26; cocoa 33; hides 2; indigo 1 75; flour 9 dols.; dry goods, low and plenty."

Extract of a letter, dated Kingston, Jamaica, March 30.

"In consequence of recent advices from Europe, Coffee, which was brisk at 8*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.* when I last wrote you, cannot now be sold at 6 6s 8d, at which price it has been offered."

Charlotte Hall School.

THE board of trustees for Charlotte Hall school deem it their duty to announce to the public, the present flourishing condition of this institution. Since the introduction of the present professors, the school has rapidly progressed in the public estimation.

When Philip Briscoe, esq. was called to assume the office of Principal, there were but 27 pupils. The liberality of the State Legislature of 1817, enabled the trustees to retain his services and those of Mr. Miltimore for the classical department—the Reverend Mr. Neale H. Shaw has also been retained as professor of mathematicks, and he is aided in that department by Mr. Sweetsee, a gentleman in high estimation as a professor. Under the management of these gentlemen the school has now 95 boys; and very many applications have already been made for entrance and board. Heretofore a portion of the boys have been compelled to board at the neighboring houses at too great a distance from the school; the trustees are now making arrangements which will enable fifty boys more to be accommodated immediately at the school; so that at all times the Principal will be enabled to exercise a general superintendance over their moral deportment (to the corruption of which, the boys in this retired village have but few temptations). The board will remark to those who are unacquainted with this place, that no part of Maryland is more distinguished for its general healthiness. The price of board is only 100 dollars a year. The tuition is now but 28 dollars a year! It will be raised after August to 32 dollars—a price much lower, however, than any of the public schools of our state.

It is intended then by the trustees to select four boys (of poor and indigent parents) of promise, and to board, clothe, and educate them entirely at the expense of the institution, and afterwards to labor to procure them that station to which their talents and conduct may entitle them.

Signed, by order.

NEALE H. SHAW, Reg'r.

May 8

Public Sale.

ON the 9th DAY of JULY next, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

Public Sale.

BY virtue of a deed of trust from Daniel McPherson and wife to the subscriber to secure to the Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria the payment of a debt due from John McPherson and Son, will be sold at public sale on the premises, on THURSDAY, the 10th day of June next, a certain tract of land, known by the name of ROUND-HILL, in the county of Fairfax, lying on both sides of the Colchester road, adjoining the lands of George Triplett, Dr. Richard Mason, and others, containing 164½ acres, be the same more or less. This land is handsomely situated, and has lately received considerable improvements. Few farms of its size in the county, perhaps, present higher inducements to a tasteful proprietor.

The terms are one-fourth cash, and the remainder in three equal instalments at 12, 18 and 24 months, with interest from the day of sale. W. VEITCH, Trustee.

TWO tracts of valuable land in Durham Parish, Charles County, Maryland opposite Nanjemoy Reach—one of these tracts of land is bounded on one side by the Potomac, has a valuable fishery, and contains about 360 acres of bottom, with a quantity of wood that ought to be cut.—The other is about three-fourths of a mile from the river, from one half to two thirds covered with wood and valuable white-oak timber, and contains about 700 acres. Both tracts have an orchard of choice fruit. The above land will be sold at Charles County Court, on THURSDAY in the third week of August next at Public sale, if not sold before, at private sale.—The terms will be made known at the sale. Timber or wood may be purchased any time previous to the sale.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—10 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow,—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

Bank Notes.

1000 to 50,000 Dollars.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

At his Exchange and Brokers Office, Bridge-street, Georgetown,

WISHES to purchase from one to fifty thousand dollars of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia bank notes, which will be taken at a very small discount. All kinds of western and other uncurrent bank notes exchanged on the lowest terms.—Persons travelling to the westward can at all times get the notes of these banks at a reasonable discount.—Bills of exchange and bank checks, negociated on any part of the United States.—Notes of United States bank, and all of the branches, exchanged.

Georgetown, one door below Crawford's tavern, October 17.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS.

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18
